DEIR EL BELAH WAR CEMETERY PALESTINE

CEMETERY INDEX NUMBER P 2.

DEIR EL BELAH is a place in Palestine near the shore of the Mediterranean, about ten miles East of the Egyptian border. It is twelve miles South-West of Gaza. It has a railway station on the coast line from Kantara to Gaza, and the War Cemetery is about a mile from the station.

On the 28th February, 1917, the cavalry of the Egyptian Expeditionary Force entered Khan Yunus, midway between the Egyptian border and Deir el Belah, and the Turkish line was withdrawn to Gaza and Beersheba. The railway was pushed forward to Deir el Belah, which became the railhead in April, 1917, and an aerodrome and camps were established there. The Cemetery was begun towards the end of March; it remained in use until the capture of Gaza on the 7th November, and to a less extent until March, 1919. The graves are for the most part those of men who died in Field Ambulances from March to June, 1917, and in the 53rd, 54th, 66th, and 74th Casualty Clearing Stations and the 69th General Hospital, from April, 1917, until the Armistice with Turkey. Thirty-four graves, the majority of which were originally at Khan Yunus, were brought into the Cemetery after the Armistice.

The Cemetery covers an area of 18,947 square yards. It contains the graves of two sailors of the Royal Navy; 585 soldiers from the United Kingdom, 37 from Australia, 13 from New Zealand, eight from South Africa, six from the West Indies, two from India, one from Canada and one from Egypt; three unidentified British seamen, and two soldiers whose unit in our forces could not be ascertained; and two German prisoners. Four French and three French Colonial soldiers were also buried here. The Indian Cemetery, on the North side of the War Cemetery, will be the subject of a separate Register.

Deir el Belah War Cemetery lies in gently undulating arable land, with an orchard on the South-East side. It is planted with tamarisk and pepper trees.

The Register records particulars of 660 British, Dominion, and Egyptian burials.

The Plot is indicated by a capital letter and the Grave by a number. Thus B. 28 indicates Plot B, Grave 28.

The particulars given in the Registers of the Graves have been compiled from information furnished by the Record Offices and the next-of-kin. In all cases the relatives have been asked to furnish the personal information they wish to appear in the Register, and where possible this has been given in their actual words.
